Køge, Denmark

I am originally trained as a banker, but after 32 years in the financial sector, my life took a turn. I got the opportunity to explore my creative side. Art has always been a big interest for me. It is very important in my life and gives me a great pleasure.

My inspiration I draw from everyday different impression and from my trips. Painting people is a passion for me and here the portrait is very special place in my repertoire. I work mainly in oil on canvas.

Among other things I have for several years got lessons by artist Daniel Goldenberg in Copenhagen.
