is a techniques, which in 2001 began with wood turning, and which will enable precision craft and well in focus.

After 5 years things began to develop, since I began to combine my creative and technical skills and knowledge in the computer to the through your drawing system Paint Shop Pro and since Inventor to the development and design of the unique wood products.

Today, craft industries segmented woodturning, and the design and further development of new techniques for processing and joining of the various species is in focus.
